They are 'Sharing Your Story' to encourage and inspire young people to achieve their career goals and help realise their ambitions. In an hour long assembly Y7, Y8 and Y9 enjoyed the exciting and emotional stories from three people working at the BBC. They spoke about their own journey and how they got to where they are now. The students could ask questions when a rugby ball microphone was thrown to them. This was a novel way for audience participation. The host spoke about the BBC apprenticeships they offer and a competition for young writers to share their own stories.
