

Queens' School Enrichment Week!

Every year, Queens' School holds an enrichment week for its younger students, letting them engage in a variety of different activities! Pictured in this article are the highlights of Tuesday 8.

One group of Year 8 students in the Sixth Form study centre took part in a Dragon's Den styled D&T activity, where they designed and made a chocolate treat. This included all aspects of design such as the name, wrapping, constructing a pedestal to display it on and a promotional video. They then presented it to teachers who took the role of the Dragons, with the winners receiving their own prize, pictured on the left.

For the Year 9 students, they got to meet with the Royal Army for activities relating to the Army Cadet Force, all to serve as a mockup of the challenges that a soldier would end up facing in an entrance exam and/or basic training.
